Israel, Egypt Approve Cease-Fire On Borders

U.S., Russia Agree To World Atom Pool

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomats credited Russia with another strong bid for international good will today in its agreement to join the Western powers in setting up a worldwide atoms-for-peace agency.

A 12-nation conference, including the Soviet Union and the United States, agreed Wednesday night on a charter for the proposed new organization which would function under the general sponsorship of the United Nations.

The charter will be presented to an 84-nation conference which will meet at U. N. headquarters in New York in September.

Initiated by Ike

The action appears to assure creation of a project initiated by President Eisenhower in December 1953. He called for an international atoms-for-peace pool which would spread the benefits of peaceful atomic power over the world.

In essence the organization is designed to pool contributed atomic materials from the United States, Russia, Britain, France and Canada primarily, and make them available to applicant countries which lack the knowledge and industrial resources for producing their own atomic fuels.

To Produce Electricity

In the consuming countries the fuels will be "burned" in atomic furnaces to produce electric power and thereby raise the industrial level and living standards.

Russia for more than a year and a half refused to cooperate and the Western powers went ahead on their own. At the Geneva summit conference last July Premier Nikolai Bulganin told Eisenhower Russia would contribute fissionable material if an agency was set up. Subsequently Moscow agreed to take part in the conference here. Its representative was Ambassador Georgi N. Zarubin.

Early in the sessions Zarubin conceded two points which helped to make the final outcome possible. He dropped a bid to include Red China. He also yielded on a Soviet proposal that the new agency be subject to the big power veto in the U. N. Security Council.

This was the third Soviet action this week seemingly calculated to promote the idea that Russia is now cooperating in constructive developments.

Others were an offer of cooperation in U. N. efforts to make peace between Israel and the Arab states and the announced dissolution of the international communist information agency, the Cominform.

American officials remain highly skeptical of Soviet aims in these maneuvers, but they concede they have wide appeal for millions of people.

Lt. Icardi Is Acquitted Of Perjury

Accused Of Denying Complicity In Murder Of O.S.S. Officer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Army Lt. Aldo L. Icardi was acquitted today of charges of perjury. He was accused of falsely denying complicity in the World War II murder of O.S.S. Major William V. Holohan behind enemy lines in Italy.

The acquittal was directed by U. S. Dist. Judge Richmond B. Keech on a defense motion to throw out the indictment.

Under court rules, since the jury already had been sworn, the motion amounted to one for a judgment of acquittal.

No Appeal Possible

There can be no government appeal.

Icardi, 35, is now a real estate broker in Pittsburgh. An Italian court convicted him in absentia of murder — meaning without being able to get Icardi's presence in court.

The perjury charge in the court here was brought after Icardi testified before a House Armed Services subcommittee in March, 1953, and swore he had no part in the slaying of Holohan.

Judge Keech ruled that Icardo's allegedly false testimony before the House subcommittee could not have been material to the subcommittee's inquiry.

Father of Five

Icardi, the father of five children, listened tensely as Judge Keech delivered a long legal opinion in which he said the subcommittee was "not functioning as a competent tribunal" when Icardi testified.

And, assuming that it was functioning as a competent tribunal, he said Icardi's allegedly false

Grace Kelly, Prince Wed In Church

Royal Couple To Board Yacht For Honeymoon In Mediterranean

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP)—Serenely composed, Grace Kelly became the wife of Prince Rainier III today in the eyes of their church. Pope Pius XII sent them a special blessing. They were married in law Wednesday, in a civil ceremony which made her Princess of Monaco.

Under the high-vaulted roof of Monaco's crowded Roman Catholic cathedral, the Hollywood film star and her Mediterranean Prince exchanged wedding vows—"until death do you part"—in a 63-minute ceremony during which the Prince had trouble putting the ring on her finger. Grace helped him. She had no trouble with the ring she gave him.

Appeared Near Tears

Once she gulped and appeared near tears. That was when the most Rev. Gilles Barth, Roman Catholic Bishop of Monaco, reminded the couple of their responsibilities as a married couple. Today's ceremony was kissless, as was Wednesday's.

The 26-year-old Oscar winner and the 32-year-old ruler of this 370 - acre principality answered "oui" quietly as Bishop Barthe asked each in turn the key question: "Do you take this . . .?"

Rainier twiddled his thumbs and fingers and once had to briefly untangle himself from the sword that hung from his powder blue and yellow striped Napoleonic pants. Only once during the ceremony did the Prince steal a glance at his beautiful princess. This was toward the end, and she flashed him a quick, breathless smile.

Maintained Icy Calm

Grace maintained her icy calm even when the 3½ yard long train to her dress caught on her chair. She didn't even flicker one of her lovely eyelids when 6 - year - old page boy Sebastian von Furstenberg dropped her ring at the beginning of the rites.

The Rev. Francis Tucker, Rainier's American chaplain from Wilmington, Del., darted up in this minor emergency, recovered the ring from the floor of the red-carpeted cathedral and steadied the little page with a smile.

Father Tucker, in fact, stage-managed the entire wedding as he partly stage-managed the entire romance between Grace and the ruler of this tiny principality. He was constantly at the elbow of Grace and the Prince telling them with whispered asides and quick

Action Is Major Achievement Of Peace Mission

Israeli Sources Say Hammarskjold Talk's Cut Border Friction

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP) — U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold announced today Israel and Egypt have agreed to an unconditional cease - fire on their borders tonight.

The cease-fire is effective at 6 p.m. (11 a.m. EST).

It is the major achievement to date of Hammarskjold's peace mission, in which he has conferred over the past 10 days with government officials of Israel and Egypt, leader of the Arab nations.

Announcement of the agreement had been forecast Wednesday by political sources. It was originally expected Wednesday night.

Israel's Premier David Ben-Gurion met with his Cabinet this morning to discuss the progress of his talks with Hammarskjold, which opened Tuesday. Israeli sources said the talks had brought "very good progress toward evolving a means of reducing border friction.

Hammarskjold announced just a week ago that Ben-Gurion and Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser had written him their forces would refrain from all warlike acts along the frontier, except in self-defense. The secretary then tried to get confirmation they had issued such orders to their forces.

Hammarskjold's task was complicated by an Israeli counterdemand that Egypt lift all restrictions on Israeli shipping through the Suez Canal. The secretary declared this was outside the scope of his peace mission, which the Arabs have insisted must be confined to the border situation.

Higher Dairy Product Prices Foreseen Within Few Days

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumers soon will be paying more for dairy products—at least 2 cents a pound for butter, 1 cent a pound for cheese and in many areas a penny or more a quart for milk.

These increases will come within a few days, reflecting government actions to raise income of the nation's dairy farmers.

The advance in butter and cheese prices will come about as a result of President Eisenhower's directive to the Agriculture Department to raise support prices for butterfat and milk used for manufacturing purposes. This was announced in his veto of the farm bill Monday.

The higher prices for fresh milk will come from the department's action in increasing prices which distributors must pay dairymen supplying major urban markets where federal orders regulate the sale of milk.

The announced purpose is to prevent the possible outbreak of more producer milk strikes like that which recently plagued Detroit.

In most of the 50-odd areas regulated by federal marketing orders, the department already has approved price increases to producers equivalent to 1 cent a quart or more, or has started formal proceedings toward that end.

In most of these regulated areas — which are scattered throughout the country and which set price patterns for adjacent areas—producer groups as well as distributors are appealing for higher prices.

Normally, producer prices for milk for fresh use are reduced during the spring and summer season of heavy production. But in some of these markets, the department has recently suspended these seasonal reductions to return prices to their higher winter levels. In other areas, where hearings must be held, the agency is proposing to do the same thing.

A hearing is to be held Friday in Columbus to discuss the Ohio situation.

Caught Switching Pike Toll Tickets

Stunt Costs 2 Truck Drivers $10 Fines

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Turnpike officials said today they were watching for bigger game in a "toll ticket switching" stunt on the Ohio Turnpike.

Two drivers for a New Jersey auto hauling firm have been fined $10 each by Justice of the Peace Donald D. Graham at North Jackson, near here, who said that by switching toll tickets they cheated the commission out of $1.40.

The stunt is that one driver with a heavy vehicle, which is charged at a higher rate, takes the cheaper ticket of a driver manning a light vehicle and uses it for a long haul across the state.

The driver who has the lighter vehicle takes the more expensive ticket, but makes only a short ride and leaves the pike. Then he comes back on at the cheaper and legal rate for the rest of the ride across the state.

The men fined were Benjamin A. Fallin, 37, of Ripley Park, Pa., and Edward Wojociechowski, 42 of Lindewald, N.J.

Graham said the men pulled the stunt in this manner:

Both entered at East Gate, from the Pennsylvania Turnpike, and their goal was Exit 5 near Toledo. Shortly after they entered, Fallin who had the heavier vehicle, took his partner's cheaper ticket. His partner drove to the nearby Niles-Youngstown Interchange, left the pike and paid 65 cents instead of a normal 45 cents. Then he reentered at the same interchange and continued in a normal manner. Eventually he caught up with his partner, who planned to get off near Toledo with a $3.50 toll instead of a normal $5.10 rate.

But patrolmen stopped them, and brought them back before the justice of the peace. Toll officials, who have been watching for such stunts, caught the switch by writing on each ticket the registration number of the vehicle.

On large trucks, the difference in tolls could run into a good many dollars per trip, said toll officials.

World Today Amazes Man Just Out Of Prison After 16 Years

CHICAGO (AP)—Roy Eaton, like the rest of us, looked at the world about him today. But to him it seemed different—like Heaven.

Eaton, a small man of 52, has been out in the world for two weeks after spending 16 years in prison for a crime he didn't commit.

"It's like coming out of Hell and going right up to Heaven," he said.

He told a newsman Wednesday of the things that had impressed and amazed him in this strange, new land.

Automobiles: "I've seen cars in junk yards that were better looking than the cars we had back in 1940."

Clothing: "You see men wearing patterns now they wouldn't be caught dead in in the old days."

An airliner that whisked him to Los Angeles for a network television appearance: "It was like a mansion in the sky."

The carpeting in a Hollywood hotel where he stayed: "It was like walking in grass up to my knees."

And people: "I've met a lot of wonderful people. I didn't think so many of them cared about others. It makes a man feel good."

Eaton was freed April 4 in the Rock Island (Ill.) Circuit Court after investigation established that he had no part in a $50 robbery for which he was doing time in the Stateville Penitentiary.

He has taken a room in St. Charles, west of Chicago, but hasn't had a chance to get a job.

"I've been going and coming so fast I haven't had time to think of employment," he said.

Eaton said he has been on several TV and radio programs that netted him $200, an electric shaver and a wrist watch. He's been interviewed by two magazine writers and contacted by an author who wants to do a book about his case.

Six of the first seven letters he received were from sympathetic women.

"One," he commented, "was almost an outright proposal."

He'd like to go to work as a salesman, he said, but added:

"I'm waiting until things die down a little and I can do some thinking."

His attorney, Robert J. Gorman, said he plans to petition the Illinois Legislature for $250,000 to compensate Eaton for wrongful imprisonment.

But there was neither bitterness in Eaton's voice nor anger in his mild eyes when he observed:

"But there is no way they can give me back those 16 years."

5 E. Liverpool Men Indicted By Grand Jury

Five East Liverpool men were charged with maintaining rooms for gambling in the three secret indictments returned by the April Grand Jury Monday, it was revealed today.

Named in the indictments were John D'Angelo, Fred McCormick and James Anas, alleged operators of the Academy Club; George Rigas, purported proprietor of the American Club; and Luke J. Phillips, alleged operator of the Valley Club. They will be given hearings this afternoon before Common Pleas Court Judge Joel H. Sharp.

Judge Sharp issued injunctions closing the three clubs March 23, evidently as a result of information gained by the grand jury in its probe of an alleged East Liverpool police burglary ring and gambling conditions in that city.

The grand jury also indicted seven East Liverpool policemen and special patrolmen on charges arising out of a series of burglaries committed during the past three years and 14 other persons on various counts.

The grand jury investigation began April 3.

Independence Awaits Arrival Of Miss Truman's Bridegroom

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — There was an air of quiet anticipation in Independence today as the folks at 219 North Delaware awaited the arrival of the bridegroom-to-be.

E. C. Daniel Jr., the New York newspaperman who will be wed Saturday to Margaret Truman, was due in neighboring Kansas City, by air, about noon.

Margaret planned to meet him at the airport. Daniel will be a house guest of her parents, former President and Mrs. Harry S. Truman. So will Daniel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Daniel Sr. of Zebulon, N.C., who are due Friday.

A big family party is scheduled at the Truman home tonight. It's to give Daniel a chance to meet Margaret's aunts, uncles and cousins.

In the big, white, freshly-scrubbed frame house on Delaware Street there was "hustle and bustle," the lady of the house said.

But the emphasis was on keeping wedding preparations quiet—and thorough.

"We want the wedding to be very solemn and serious—because it is," Truman said.

"They've got me muzzled," he added. He wouldn't talk politics—not to the point of saying something that might be controversial, anyway.

He explained: "I wouldn't want anything to happen that would embarrass the boss or Margie." The "boss" 's Mrs. Truman, and he made it clear she's giving the orders this week.

Margaret, 32, and Daniel, 43, will be wed at 5 p.m. Saturday in little Trinity Episcopal Church, where her parents were married 37 years ago. It's just a few blocks around the corner.

The Rev. Patric Hutton, the young-looking rector, said the couple received premarital instructions of the Episcopal Church in New York.

Trinity church can accommodate only about 125 people, so invitations to the wedding have been limited to the families and close friends. These also will attend a reception afterward at the Truman home.

Margaret will wear a beige wedding gown of 300-year-old Venetian lace, designed by Nicole Fontana, an Italian designer who will be among wedding guests.

THE RIGHT TO KNOW

Berlin Dispute Traced To Censorship

By KENT COOPER

By North American Newspaper Alliance

In the closing days of the second World War, the cloak of "military security" covered a flagrant instance of news suppression through political censorship.

This was the news dispatch of correspondent Wes Gallagher of the Associated Press from the front, disclosing the fact that the troops of the West could easily have taken Berlin before the Russians did in May 1945, but for some reason were not allowed to do so.

Gallagher's story emphasized that this was not because of any superiority of the American over the Russian forces. It said simply that the Germans were fighting to the death on the Eastern Front, that they were afraid to surrender either territory or themselves to the Russians. By contrast, massive chunks of the German line in the west were crumbling before the British and the Americans.

IN A REVIEW of what happened at that time Hal Boye, also an Associated Press correspondent, showed that the frustration of the military upon receipt of instructions to stop at the Elbe was complete. The officer whose troops came closest to the German capital and who said he was given orders to capture the city was Brig. Gen. Sidney H. Hinds.

"We were only one day's armored march from Berlin," Gen. Hinds said. "I believe we could have taken Berlin days before the Russians arrived — at least a week."

On April 11, 1945, Gen. Hinds' command reached Schonebeck, on the west bank of the Elbe, after a 72-mile dash. Four days later Hinds was ready to push on toward Berlin when Lt. Gen. William Simpson flew up from Ninth Army Headquarters and called off the march.

"But I've got orders to go to Berlin," exclaimed Hinds.

Gen. Simpson explained that orders had been received from "top side" to halt at the Elbe. And there the Americans waited while the Russians took Berlin.

Robert Eunson, of Associated Press, was at Ninth Army Headquarters when Simpson returned. Gen. Simpson then had five divisions on the battle line, with a tremendous reserve of 22 divisions. After instructing the censor to kill any news dispatch about what he was going to disclose, the general told a press conference:

"This is the end of the road for the Ninth Army. We aren't going any further."

ASKED WHERE he got his orders, Simpson said:

"From Bradley. And he got his orders from Eisenhower."

"Where did Eisenhower get his orders?" the correspondent asked.

Simpson laughed when a correspondent suggested "Truman."

When it was pointed out by a newsman that this news should not be suppressed, that "The American people ought to have the right to know that U.S. troops aren't going to be allowed to take Berlin,' Simpson replied:

"I'm sorry, but if we let you announce we are stopping here, the Germans would switch all their power to the Russian Front."

It was not only before Berlin that the Americans waited, as Associated Press correspondent Don Whitehead pointed out. They were also held at Pilsen, 50 miles from Prague.

The truth, when it finally came out, disclosed that President Truman had approved Gen. Eisenhower's recommendation that for military considerations the Americans should stop their advance at the Elbe and leave the capture of Berlin to the Russians. This step was taken over the objects of Prime Minister Churchill and much to his distress. He wanted the armies of the West to "join hands with the Russian armies as far east as possible and, if circumstances allow, enter Berlin."

Ten years after the war ended, Mr. Churchill still was publicly scoring the point that Gen. Eisenhower himself had made it easy for President Truman to agree to let the Russians alone have the glory of taking Berlin. The British leader based his critical comment on Eisenhower's letter of March 30, 1945, to Gen. George Marshall, then United States Chief of Staff. In the letter Gen. Eisenhower said:

"May I point out that Berlin itself is no longer a particularly important objective?"

WINSTON CHURCHILL never has added to his comment that Gen. Eisenhower was writing about military, not political, objectives. Just what would have been the reaction in Washington if Eisenhower, the military man, had stepped out of character and voluntarily added, "but for political reasons I will not let the Russians take it" can be imagined. Besides, there is nothing in any public record to show that Gen. Eisenhower ever favored Churchill's point that the Western Allies should take Berlin.

Gen. Eisenhower's assertion that Berlin itself was no longer an important military objective must have been welcomed by our government, which was secretly carrying out the generous Roosevelt policy of deferring to Russia. For it put the great military leader solidly back of what the politicians wanted to do. Meanwhile popular imagination in the United States was picturing a victorious Berlin, with Old Glory flying, to end the second World War!

The Gallagher news story,which was suppressed when political censorship intervened, had been written and filed with the censor a week before the war ended.

If Gallagher's story had been published the day it was written, it is not probable that the American people would have blandly accepted the idea the West should step aside in Russia's favor without at least a guaranteed corridor reaching to Berlin. If the people had been informed, open discussion surely would have brought about that much modification of the pro-Russian policy. For Russia could not then have resisted a determined American policy based upon the sentiments expressed by an enlightened American public.

With public discussion going on in the United States even Prime Minister Churchill's voice might have been openly raised in warning instead of in complaint several years after the war ended. If so, it probably would have been possible to prevent what since has led to so much mischief. Suppression of the news in the Gallagher dispatch, however, made any discussion impossible.

WHEN IT WAS finally disclosed that the American government had agreed to permit the Red army to take Berlin, the war with Germany was over. It was not over until eight years after hostilities ceased that Churchill published the suggestions he made in 1945.

Two presidents were involved in American policy toward the Russians in Germany: Roosevelt at Yalta and Truman who, it was said, did not wish to undo what President Roosevelt had accepted at Yalta or create the possibility that further American blood would be spilled in order to conquer Berlin.

It had to be his fate that a third president Gen. Eisenhower, who executed the plan he recommended, was the one who, a few years later, as president himself had to live and struggle with the menacing situation which as supreme commander he himself created.

Three years after American troops were halted at the Elbe, there was a discussion in London regarding what an official present termed "the American faux pas." Only one American was in the group. It was at the time when the Soviet had stopped rail and highway traffic with the British, French and American sectors of Berlin, thereby bringing on the famous airlift.

The Englishmen present blamed Gen. Eisenhower for stopping at the Elbe and leaving eastern Germany to the Soviet. The American insisted that the general had acted upon orders from his commander-in-chief. Then one of the most famous figures of his day solemnly said:

"Take a walk, if you will, down to Trafalgar Square and there look up at the statute of Lord Nelson. Then reflect upon this: That during the battle of Copenhagen which was the doorstep to Nelson's career that later immortalized him at Trafalgar, Sir Hyde Parker, his superior in command, who has long since been forgotten, signaled Nelson from the flagship to withdraw and flee to safety. When Nelson was told the signal was being flagged he placed his telescope to his blind eye. Asserting he could see no such signal he ordered the weight of attack increased, which resulted in complete English victory. If Gen. Eisenhower had followed this Nelson precedent and "misunderstood' your President's order, the supreme commander of this war, which has not yet been won, would have had a monument in your capital someday that would have dwarfed the one we erected here to Lord Nelson and British history would then have immortalized him too."

ERRORS LIKE THAT in Germany are inevitable when the military, properly subject to complete civilian control, as in this country, is ordered to keep the people in the dark on political promises made in mystery and shadow by politicians far away from the battlefields.

Militarymen may think they understand them but in reality, as they are given no explanation of the reasons behind them. They comprehend them only dimly. All American generals, therefore, live in terror of all politicians. That maks them supercautious and excessively disposed to "play it safe" within the area of their military operations, with help of the blue pencil of a sympathetic censor. The real sufferers, however, always will be the people who see mto have to keep on fighting wars due to the mistakes of their government which seems to think its errors will not matter if news of them is suppressed.

The generous concern for Russia on the part of all of President Roosevelt's political appointees had been responsible for the concession exacted by the Kremlin that Russia, after the end of the war, would have control of the whole vast territory of lin.

John Winant, ambassador at the Court of St. James's, was the American member of the European Advisory Commission which established the zones of German occupation. The city of Berlin was to be divided among England, America and Russia. Later, when England and America demanded that France also have a zone of occupation, Stalin said he had no objection if not part of it was sliced off the Russian territory. Again he had his way. France got its zone through the reduction of the English and American areas.

The right of the Western powers to be in Berlin was clearly established by the commission, but there was no route for them to get in and out of the city except by crossing Soviet-controlled areas.

MR. WINANT steadfastly refused to follow a suggestion from American State Department experts to negotiate a corridor from the west to Berlin which would belong indisputably to the West. He said such a demand would imply "distrust" of the Russians and their intentions, that he was finally winning for the United States a degree of Russian confidence.

Long before the airlift of 1948 became necessary, however, unfavorable Russian attitudes were causing concern. Aware that his tragic blunder of not gaining the corridor to Berlin was creating consternation among the Western Allies, Ambassador Winant became deeply affected. His death by his own hand occurred in November 1947, only a few months before the airlift involved the West in tremendous effort and expense.

Through all of this tragic story runs the recurring fact that, if the news story by Wes Gallagher had not been suppressed by political censorship, the whole history of the end of the war might have been different.

River Undergoing Billion Dollar Facelifting

Ground To Be Broken Monday For 3rd Of 21 Ohio River Dams

CINCINNATI (AP)—Army Engineers, readying the Ohio River for commerce well past the year 2000, will break ground next Monday on a new $73,600,000 navigation dam at Markland, Ind., 65 river-miles below Cincinnati. It will be the third such dam in a proposed system of 21 to be started within 18 months.

Initial work already is under way on locks at New Cumberland, W. Va., 55 miles below Pittsburgh, and at Greenup, Ky., 132 miles above Cincinnati. Construction of the Greenup installation finds coffer-damming in place for a main 1,200 foot lock and 600 foot auxiliary chamber. Ground was broken at Greenup in October 1954, and for New Cumberland last November.

In all, said Col. J. L. Person today, it will be a billion dollar, 20-year-program intended to replace 41 of the present 46 structures with 16 modern high-level dams. Col. Person heads the Ohio River Division of U.S. Engineers. The remaining five facilities — not so old as the others—will be modernized by construction of uniform 1,200 foot and 600 foot locks. The largest of the locks will be twice as long as those now in use.

The ground-breaking ceremonies April 23 are expected to provide a climax for meetings to be held simultaneously in three Ohio River communities. At Cincinnati, Col. Person will address a luncheon meeting of top figures in river transportation, allied interests and government. At Vevay, Ind., Indiana Gov. George N. Craig will share the platform with Rep. Earl Wilson (R-Ind) and others. At Carrollton, Ky., Gov. A. B. Chandler and Kentucky Sen. Earle C. Clements will speak.

Schools in Carrollton and other river communities have announced plans to suspend classes during the afternoon.

The groundbreaking proper will be accomplished by an explosive charge to be set off at 4 p.m. (EST) at the Kentucky end of the proposed dam.

Chartered buses and boats will carry persons to the ceremonies in the three cities, and to and from the groundbreaking scene.

Sponsorship is in the hands of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association (OVIA), a non-profit organization of river interests with headquarters in Cincinnati, and the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce.

Need for the proposed system of modern dams has been stressed before Congress by the OVIA on the basis of research disclosing that since World War II, more than 2,500 industries have invested well in excess of ten billion dollars in new Ohio Valley plants and in expansion of existing facilities. Of that figure, said Hudson Biery, executive vice - president, more than nine billion dollars have come to the valley since 1950.

Ohio River commercial tonnage has spiraled from a three to five million figures during early years of this century to an estimated 65 million tons for 1955. The result is that present aging dams with their 600 foot locks no longer are able to serve commerce with anything like reasonable adequacy, Biery said.

Army Engineers say the new dams, even though built to endure through an economic life of 40 to 50 years, actually—considering advanced design and techniological improvements in construction materials—should serve river commerce for a much greater time.

Tomorrow: Why build new dams? For one thing, the river is so crowded that a coal barge can be loaded in five minutes, but may wait five to six hours for lockage).

Glen Taylor To Run Again For U. S. Senate

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP) — Glen Taylor, cowboy turned politician who once was a senator and ran for vice president in 1948 on the Progressive party ticket, said Wednesday he would run again for the Senate.

Taylor will seek the Democratic nomination for the Senate seat now held by Republican Herman Welker. Five other Democrats also are trying to win the nomination. One, Mayor Theron Ward of Jerome, also announced his candidacy Wednesday.

It will be Taylor's sixth try for the Senate. He lost the nomination in 1940 and 1942 but won in 1944 and served six years. He ran again but lost in 1950 and 1954.

Now 52, Taylor ran on the Progressive ticket in 1948 with Henry Wallace as the presidential candidate.

Stevenson Says U. S. Must Support Israel

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Adlai Stevenson says the United States should "make it clear to the Arabs that Israel is here to stay."

Stevenson made his statement Wednesday night in a rally at Pittsburgh as he carried his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination into Pennsylvania.

Stevenson, referring to the Republican campaign slogan of "peace and prosperity," said "the peace is but an uneasy truce and the prosperity has failed countless small businesses."

His is the only name that will appear on the Democratic ballot in the state's April 24 presidential primary. He has the support of Gov. George M. Leader and other top state Democrats.

Front-Line Career Men

Defense Secretary Wilson has opened up a possibility of interest to every American facing military service in the near or distant future.

Congress might make it so attractive it would be a better career than anything the young serviceman could look forward to in civilian life.

Secretary Wilson has outlined a program to do this. It has been adopted as a part of the Eisenhower administration's platform.

The military services have a serious problem of how to cut down turnover of the skilled technicians who are the backbone of mechanized warfare. They need men, not endless procession of draftees.

In the past, military service was made attractive by advantages that private employment could not match. Military careerists had more security than industrial workers.

That has changed. Fringe benefits for industrial workers and high rates of pay have made military career men feel like chumps for cheating themselves out of a good thing.

Young men have not been attracted to military service. They have gone into service against their will and left at the earliest opportunity; hence, the turnover problem.

Secretary Wilson proposes medical care for dependents, more generous benefits for survivors, improved retirement rights, larger rental allowances for housing, more stabilization in the officer corps and more incentives for doctors, dentists and nurses.

It's his theory a military career can be made attractive to enough Americans to man the defenses without forced drafting. Is he right? If you were a young American, what would induce you to take up a military career?

Why Politicians Go Mad

If President Eisenhower is wrong, the way to be chief executive of the United States is to knuckle under to congressional politicians on all issues like the farm bill. Statesmanship is a vanished art.

Americans are in as tough a condition as the French, who are on the verge of anarchy as a last resort to get rid of the hedgers and trimmers who have undermined the French republic's political integrity.

President Eisenhower's veto of a farm bill foisted off on him by opponents in his own party and the opposition to hurt his political chances in an election year is an act of statesmanship. It is a gamble on the character of the American people.

It is contrary to the rules that politicians live by — chiefly the rule that the way to win favor at the polls is to promise to give away more of the people's money than your opponent is promising to give away.

A political paradox grows out of the President's refusal to go along with this cynical rule. The worst politics becomes the best politics in the instance of a chief executive trying to serve the best interests of all the people.

Farmers are like industrial workers in reserving the right to think for themselves; they are never of one mind about anything, certainly not about legislative panaceas dished up for the relief of agriculture.

If a president who has nothing to gain by kidding them along says the assortment of panaceas in the farm bill he has just vetoed is no good for them or the country, they're more likely to believe him than the politicians who put him in a jam by giving him a bad bill to sign.

It's enough to drive a politician to silo juice!

'Ivan Stay Home!'

Our British cousins always are wonderful when they are being outspoken about somebody besides us. Junketeering Kremlinites, for example.

Bulganin and Khrushchev will have to be both blind and deaf not to notice the popular vinegar mixed with the bland official reception given them in Britain. Always noted for bluntness, in Britons who don't like authoritarianism by any name are making it plain they think Bulganin, Khrushchev, Malenkov, Serov and all other Russian authoritarians should stay home.

In view of the possibility there may be a Kremlin junket to the United States, too, Americans should waste no time in coming to grips with the dilemma that confronts free men the dilemma that now confronts even the most ordinary Briton.

It is whether to speak out against authoritarians and be tagged as a trouble-maker, or to go along with the government and risk being tagged as a Communist sympathizer.

Governments can change their attitude toward the Kremlin as easily as the Kremlinites have changed their own attitude toward Stalin. But ordinary citizens who are expected to love the Russians one year and hate them the next, according to the whims of policy-makers, can turn into whirling dervishes trying to keep pace.

Petty Partisans Criticize Ike For Vacations

Lawrence

The horse-and-buggy days have long since gone but, judging from some recent comments criticizing President Eisenhower for not staying in Washington during a flare-up in the Middle East, it might be supposed that some people do not know that the airplane and the telegraph and the telephone make it unnecessary for any chief executive to remain in the national capital all the time.

As a matter of fact, those who wanted President Eisenhower to cancel his recent trip to Augusta, didn't realize that such a step would in itself have set off an alarm around the world. Stock markets would have been affected, and nervousness about a new call-up of the draft would have ensued.

Actually, nowadays a president of the United States can be anywhere in this country and take care of an international crisis so far as military or diplomatic messages or instructions are concerned.

For some years now it has been well known in Washington that only one man — the president —has the authority to order use of the atomic bomb in case of sudden attack.

NATURALLY, if a president goes from city to city, as he has to do occasionally during his term of office, arrangements have to be made for instantaneous communication with him. These have always been carefully planned to meet any emergency operation.

Wherever the president goes, there are telephone or radio contacts and he can even be reached aboard a plane and hold a conversation with his subordinates while traveling in the air.

When Mr. Eisenhower goes to Augusta, he has the same set-up on a communications basis that President Truman had at Key West, during the Korean war — and there were some acute phases in that war.

The telephone and telegraph lines are private. They are for the use only of the president and they connect continuously with the White House telephone switchboard and with the telegraph room there. The same preparations are many weeks in advance whenever the President is planning a visit to Denver or to any other place across the country where he makes a stop.

THE COMMUNICATIONS equipment at the President's farm at Gettysburg has been established for several months and can be put into operation at a moment's notice. Conferences by telephone nowadays can be held with three or five or more persons at the same time, and two-way conversations are possible among all the participants.

There are folks who think that, when an international situation gets in the headlines, the president should station himself in his office and wring his hands while the photographers take pictures of him "meeting the crisis." The truth is that a president needs time to read the constant flow of messages that come to him from all parts of the world, and he can do a better job of concentration and can think things through with far more objectivity when he is detached from Washington's pressures. Any officials needed for a personal conference can always be summoned in a few hours' flying time.

When Mr. Truman went to Key West a few years ago, this correspondent wrote somewhat the same exposition of the presidential communications system and defended Mr. Truman from similar criticisms. Unfortunately, there seems to be a tendency to criticize presidents when they try to get some exercise or rest. They never really take vacations except for a few hours at a time.

THE THEORY that a chief executive can do a good job only in the midst of Washington's whirl is a fallacy. A president deserves all the time he can possibly take for golf or any other recreation. Past presidents have had their hobbies, and the nation never begrudged the vacations of Grover Cleveland or of Herbert Hoover, both of whom liked to go fishing.

One thing is rarely publicized. It's that a president often works long into the night and on weekends. The time he spends reading important messages from all over the world and memoranda from his associates is unknown to the public generally — but, whether it's at Augusta or Gettysburg or Denver, the time spent by the President on the golf course is reported. Also, if he tosses out the first ball at the opening of the baseball season, it's widely covered — and, of course, if he doesn't go to the initial game, it offends the fans.

THE TIME he spends at his desk during the day or in his bedroom at night reading official papers never gets into the newspapers. It often means a 50-hour week for him.

It is the pettiest kind of partisanship and narrow-mindedness to criticize any president for taking a vacation or trips away from Washington. It would be better for America if all presidents spent more time traveling around the country rather than tie themselves down to the White House continuously for twelve months a year.

Business With A Future

Frankly, this column is a soft touch for ideas about transportation. Maybe it's because the Twill family was in the trucking business for a few action-filled years after World War I, which made trucking look as if it might have a future.

Unfortunately, trucking had more of a future than the Twill family, which pulled out of trucking just when the jackpot was about to be disgorged. New wrinkles in transportation are like new verses to a sentimental ballad, "What Might Have Been."

Roy Fruehauf, whose family got into the truck trailer business and stayed there, says it won't be long until railroad boxcars disappear. Truck trailers on flatcars—the now familiar piggy-back trains—will take their place.

This is the most interesting transportation tidbit since the one about the use of helicopters instead of buses to carry office workers from the suburbs to downtown "heliports" in busload batches. And that was the most interesting one since conversion of railroad rights of way into smooth-surfaced expressways where railroad traffic no longer justifies retention of ownership by right of eminent domain.

The list of exciting possibilities keeps growing—but the use of detachable boxcar bodies, which is what Mr. Fruehauf sees coming, has special meaning to a former lumber pusher.

It was my sorrowful and long-suffering duty in many kinds of weather to crouch in the ends of box cars and maneuver pieces of lumber into position so they could be shoved out of the door in the middle. It was a problem of angles and projections that accompanied every boxcarful of lumber ever shipped in the world.

Those boxcars were ovens when the sun hit them in summertime, refrigerators when the cold permeated them in wintertime. An unloading crew had to bear down with everything it possessed to remember that it was being paid by the hour, especially when the lengths exceeded the maximum footage that could be handled without first shoving them out one door, turning them and shoving them out the other door.

In the new and brighter era that's coming, lumber always can be unloaded from one end of its carrier, which can be moved into the proper position before the job starts.

No railroader should get miffed about Mr. Fruehauf's idea, because piggy-packing is the fastest-growing thing in railroad business.

The old lumber-pusher cannot look at a piggyback train without thinking about the millions of man hours and cuss words it has taken —and is still taking—to jet a car load of lumber through that middle door, one piece at a time, first one end, then the other, then all toyether. . . ouch, another splinter!

By the end of a hard day, a pusher could stay afloat in fresh water from acquired buoyancy. It made the trucking business look pretty desirable by hindsight, but trucking was a dog's life, the Twills agreed, and what with so many people getting into the competition would ruin it. So we all pushed lumber out of box cars instead.

Great Events

Every morning, after breakfast, I am required to rest for one hour, after that I eat only unsalted, unsweetened provender.

Sokolsky

Also, I am given a substitute for robust coffee which they tell me I shall become accustomed to if I live long enough.

It is in the mood of such a breakfast which no longer terminates with a long, black Havana cigar, that I read newspapers. The question that has confronted me for several weeks is whether I should read the news or observe the wedding which is rapidly becoming the greatest show on earth.

After all, the world does love romance and the outward manifestations of romance, and the reporters who write about Grimaldi as being royalty, while inaccurate because he belongs to no royal house, do stimulate a childhood interest in the Prince and Pauper and the Cinderella legends, although it does stretch the imagination somewhat to think of Grace Kelly as a Pauper or a Cinderella. As a matter of fact if she stayed with MGM, she could have earned more than Grimaldi earns in Monaco but love overlooks such matters and in Monaco there is no income tax, only a 10 per cent transaction tax.

SO I READ about the wedding, being in my second adolescence since I got well, and I find it very interesting to gaze at pictures which look so often like mob scenes directed by Cecil B. De Mille.

Sometimes when I read what the American female correspondents write about the wedding, I cannot figure out whether Grimaldi is being married to Grace Kelly or the female correspondents. I am sure all will be straightened out in due course. I do not know the parties at issue but were I well enough to travel, maybe I would have gone to the wedding as a reporter and written for you many tales of wonder and excitement, particularly about the decaying European nobility which is so rapidly disappearing.

In fact, I think that the remaining crowned heads of Europe did wrong not to go to the wedding because then they could all be photographed together to show the world how few of them are left.

THE GREAT Hapsburg family —the most important of all—, of course, has no crown anywhere. The Hohenhollern is rapidly descending into the proletariat. The House of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, now known as the House of Windsor, reigns in England but rules nowhere.

The Romanovs are gone except Mike who runs the best restaurant in Hollywood and who should really drop the whole thing now that he is doing so well in the eating line. What has become of the Hohenstaufen, I do not know.

The Scandinavian Royalty is rather recent, not going back too far into history, and they are socialistic kings, which is a dichotomy.

THE REASON that the crowned heads stayed away is because in Europe a royal highness snubs a serene highness, if that makes any difference. The Duchess of Windsor knows how snooty royalty can be. Protocol is very important to those who have nothing to live for but protocol and it is to be hoped that Grace Kelly when she becomes Grace Grimaldi will take her father's advice and not let herself be pushed around by protocol.

However, among the remaining nobility of Europe this is about all that is left and it makes a big difference whether you are addressed as "your majesty," "your highess," "your grace," or "your excellency." It also makes a difference in salary, if the person involved still has a job. In most countries, the nobility is out of work in their profession.

IN THE 19TH and early 20th centuries, it was customary for American girls of rich parents to marry into the European nobility. That is how Winston Churchill got his father and mother. Some of these marriages were successful; some were fiascoes because the American woman could not adjust to the ways of the European noblemen.

After World War I, fewer such marriages occurred. But whenever one did take place, Americans just ate it up, as they do anything unusual like when an elevator girl becomes a Hollywood star and runs through five husbands before the studios forget to take up her option.

The biggest thing that has happened in this line in many decades is the Kelly-Grimaldi marriage because Grace Kelly makes a really grand show.

'Investment' In Matrimony

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER

CHICAGO

Nearly half today's young unmarried "career girls" skimp on virtually everything they buy during 50 weeks of the year so they can "live it up" in glamorous vacations for the remaining two.

This pattern is described by H. L. Marcus, president of the Southmoore Bank and Trust Company here, after a survey of thrift habits in different age groups over the last 10 years.

The young unmarried working girls who emulate the "Mrs. Leslie" of the novel and movie in her stratagem of saving up most of the year so that she could live in a dream world for part of it, account for 48 per cent of their group.

They carry their lunches most of the time, wangle a ride to and from work whenever they can, forego frequent movies and spend evenings watching television, reading or crocheting.

Their dimes and dollars accumulate until they rank next to the Christmas clubs in seasonal savings, according to Mr. Marcus.

Comes a Friday evening in summer or winter — the girls do not go in so much for spring or fall vacations — and the scene shifts as abruptly for them as for Cinderella.

They step out of the workaday world of routines and into a world of routines and into a world of glamor, in Las Vegas, Miami, Bermuda, Mexico, or some other glittering vacation scene.

Most of them, the survey shows, don't pull their punches; they stay at one of the best hotels, or, if it's a lake or ocean cruise, travel first class. No more sandwiches for lunch - not for two weeks, anyway —because now it is the top restaurants with the exotic cuisines.

On all of this they spend anywhere from $400 to $800 in two weeks.

Is it worth it "From the young woman's standpoint, it must be," says Mr. Marcus, "because many of them do it several years in a row."

Even from a banker's standpoint, he considers it a "decidedly wise investment considering the age group of the girls."

A major incentive is that a majority of the girls who invest in the fabulous vacation are going to the far-off romantic places in frank hopes of "meeting somebody," somebody preferably quite well-off, young, handsome and eligible.

The bank's statisticians vouch for the fact that quite often they do, "and nobody can deny that a lifetime of potential happiness and security is a good return on an investment of less than $1,000."

Instead of building a habit of careless spending, the plan of sacrificing for 50 weeks and splurging for two seems to be quickly transformed into an instinct for thrift and self-denial aimed at more serious goals later on, Mr. Marcus observed.

Considering the proportion of their incomes which they put away for future use, the young working girls save more than virtually any other group, the bankers concluded from their survey.

The half that do not conform to the prevailing vogue of the two-week splurge break down roughly as follows:

Thirty per cent, for household purchases when they marry; 10 per cent, for automobiles of their own; 6 per cent, for fur coats or other expensive wearing apparel or jewelry; 6 per cent, for miscellaneous matters like unfabulous vacations, further education, or just a plain old "rainy day."

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

The Be-Bop Aesop

Once upon a time there was a Woman Who Got Fed Up Fast. Enough was enough. She could string along with Cupid, she liked romance and she had the normal heartbeat over happy endings. She carried the usual load of sentimental reactions. The lady liked weddings and had nothing against lovely movie stars and European princes. But it had been a tough two weeks.

SHE HAD NOW REACHED the stage where she could tune in on radio or TV and yawningly remark, "Somebody is getting married. This has been going on too long for a rumor." When somebody similarly sunk asked sarcastically, "What are the names of the happy couple?" she could come right back with "It Ain't Jack and Jill." Her husband, who had been trying for local news, chirped, "I see this is the day of the civil wedding ceremonies," she replied, "Yeah. Your tie is on crooked." "The man says the cathedral ceremony is tomorrow," said the husband. "Stop dropping ashes on the rug," the wife replied.

"AIN'T YOU GOT no sense of romance?" he asked.

"I had it when this Monaco item began away back when I was a young girl," said the wife. "Ddink your coffee."

"Something's wrong with you. The whole world is agog over this marriage," insisted her mate.

"Look me up an account of two ordinary, run-of-the-mill people getting married quietly somewhere with only half a dozen people present. You know what I mean. . . no crowds, no special traffic rules, no ballyhoo, no yachts and no general exhibition of new camera models," yawned the Missus.

"You want miracles!" he replied. "This is the event of the year. It eclipses everything. If big-league baseball hadn't benefited by spring practice, Monaco would have scored a shut-out against it."

"Even as it is, the little principality pitched a no hitter," said the wife.

"BY THE WAY I've been trying to get the ball game but with no luck. What's the score?" her mate inquired.

"Monaco ten; Baseball nothing," the wife said.

"The airwaves are so jammed up I can't make out whether it's the girdle and perfume companies sponsoring the ball game and the beer and cigarette firms sponsoring the wedding or what," said the husband.

"Oh, try again," said the little woman. "You give up too easily."

HE TUNED IN the radio. . ." The happy princess wore a. . ." it began. He switched to TV. "As the Prince and his radiant bride appeared on the. . ."

Hearing a scream, the man turned toward his wife, but she had gone, leaving a note: "Have fled to hills. Be back when it's all over."

Moral: There can always be one woman somewhere who can take it or leave it.

"MY HUSBAND and I chartered the yacht before Rainier bought it. It is only 135 feet long and I would call it a bit snug."—Lady Norah Docker in a story from Monaco. . . Always belittling!

"Who's pitching?" asked a ball fan trying to tune into the ball game at the height of a Monaco broadcast. "Graustark," replied his friend pevihsly.

Gen. Lauris Norstad, new head of NATO, was born and raised in Red Wing, Minn., hard by Blackbird Junction.

Sen. Humphrey Says Democrats Must Back School Integration

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) said today the Democratic party can't afford to go to the voters with a 1956 platform that "ignores or rebukes" the Supreme Court's school integration decision.

Humphrey, who has taken a leading role in past convention fights for adoption of strong civil rights planks, will participate in a two-day Democratic rally opening here Friday.

The conference schedule calls only for informal discussion of campaign issues and leaders obviously hoped to avoid any public debate now on the civil rights question, with its threat to party unity.

But Humphrey said he thinks the party's presidential nominating platform will have to express "concurrence in and support of the Supreme Court's decision and the court's implementation of the integration order.

"That doesn't include any congressional or executive action on the issue," he said. "My position is that the court has taken jurisdiction and that it can and will gain compliance with its order."

Some Southerners have made it clear that if the platform calls for White House enforcement of the court's order, or a candidate is nominated who pledges such action, they might walk out of the August convention in Chicago. Humphrey seemed to be stopping short of such a declaration.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala), one of those who signed a recent congressional "manifesto" advocating legal reversal of the court's decision, declined to say whether he thinks the kind of plank Humphrey outlined would be acceptable to Southern Democrats.

Sparkman, the 1952 Democratic vice presidential candidate, expressed confidence the matter will be worked out without causing any walkout by Southern delegates.

"Every four years we have our differences over this issue," he said. "We never get a plank that is satisfactory to everybody but at least we get one that most of us are able to live with.

"It is going to be mighty difficult to write that plank but I hope that it can be done."

Sen. Holland (D-Fla), another manifesto signer, promised a fight to prevent inclusion of any language he would regard as "an insult to the South."

Sam Brightman, publicity director for the national committee, said he doubts the civil rights issue will come formally before any of the conference sessions.

He said the national committee, meeting Friday, will discuss convention arrangements and campaign techniques.

superintendent, presented opportunities for Christian Fellowships, for the youth especially, which are available at Camp Aldersgate on Leesville Lake near Carrollton.

Mrs. Scott Wilson of Amsterdam reported on the year's accomplishments under the direction of the promotional secretaries. The overall theme of the year being, "Get Into the Sun," 105 of the 108 societies have completed the visitation program with many societies filling all eight goals of the year. These societies were presented written citations.

Certificates for completion of study classes were presented to 22 societies by Mrs. Stanley Beresford of Carrollton, district secretary of missionary education, on behalf of the North Central Jurisdiction. Other societies completed three of the four classes although the Salem society received both.

Honoring the 15th birthday of the WSCS, Mrs. Theodore Mayer presented life membership pins to Mrs. Harry Masters and Mrs. Howard Montgomery of Steubenville who have served in various district offices for the entire 15 years.

Mrs. Ernest Raynes of England, whose husband is serving for one year in the Buena Vista Church, was speaker at the morning session. Both Mr. and Mrs. Raynes served as missionaries in the West Indies and will return to England in a few months.

Christian fellowship worked around good programs should be the outstanding goal of a society, Mrs. Raynes said, cautioning the group not to let money-making projects take precedence. Mrs. Raynes also presented a general picture of Methodist women at work in England.

Spring flowers provided dining room decorations during the luncheon supervised by Mrs. C. K Segesman and her committee. Rev. C. Clare Davis, pastor, gave the prayer. In charge of decorations was Mrs. Robert Rheutan, while Mrs. Lester Baldinger was in charge of the dining room.

Miss Lois Armstrong of Lisbon conducted a pledge service with the treasurers of the local WSCS dedicating pledges on a worship center.

"It is not what we preach but the examples of our daily lives that are the forceful sermons," Mrs. Clara Maye Rippel, speaker of the day, told the gathering. Mrs. Rippel, an ordained minister, is a program director at the Fletcher Place Community Center in Indianapolis, Ind.

Serving over 5,000 people in a congested area, Mrs. Rippel is assisted by six paid workers and 28 volunteer helpers in addition to social work college students. Methodists, in addition to other church denominations, aid in the work of this center.

The community center, according to Mrs. Rippel has been credited with a 65 per cent reduction of juvenile delinquency and has been named one of the outstanding community centers in the nation. The residents and directors depend on gifts of used clothing and donated articles for materials to work with.

Officers were installed by Mrs. Jay M. Spiker of Scio, a past president of the Steubenville district and conference treasurer.

Presidents of the various groups served as ushers, with Mrs. Edward Alexander as chairman.

gestures when to stand, kneel and pray.

The ceremony — scheduled to take an hour—went over the limit by only three minutes.

When it was over, the couple entered an open cream and black Rolls Royce—both smiling broadly for the first time since the ceremony began. He tugged at his collar and she leaned over to him. They appeared relaxed and waved as crowds cheered their progress under a bright sunny sky.

The procession carried them down the winding road from the palace rock to the portside Qual Albert 1st, crowded with cheering people waving Monacan and United States flags.

At the little Church of Ste. Devote, dedicated to the patroness of the principality, the procession stopped while the crowd cried "vive le Prince . . . vive la Princesse." The royal couple left their car and she placed her bridal bouquet of lilies of the valley at the altar of the church. The stop at the church is a tradition for all newlyweds in Monaco.

Her veil streaming in the breeze, the Princess waved happily as the procession returned to the palace. Applause and cheers followed the procession. At the palace a bugle flourish from the guard signaled their entrance through the royal gate.

They are expected to leave Friday, perhaps tonight, for a Mediterranean honeymoon aboard Rainier's yacht, Deo Juvante II. Grace told friends Wednesday night after busy rounds of entertainment: "I'll be glad to get on that yacht."

An elaborate buffet, including a wedding cake four feet tall, was served in the palace inner courtyard to a throng of wedding guests. Everyone who could obtain an invitation was present, from the aging Aga Khan and his Begum to a few news correspondents who managed to swing the deal.

The ceremony today was witnessed by a glittering assemblage of lesser European royalty, millionaires, diplomats, friends and families of the couple and by reporters and photographers of many nations. They jammed the glistening white stone cathedral of St. Nicholas, high on a cliff overlooking the Mediterranean. Some reporters thought there were as many as 1,000 persons in the cathedral, which has a normal seating capacity of about 600.

Grace was gorgeous, her attire setting off to perfection her classic blonde features and lithe figure. She wore a billowing ivory gown of peau de soie taffeta and lace, puffed out by three petticoats and ending in a 3½-yard train. Her veil was embroidered with rose point lace and thousands of tiny pearls, and she carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and—"something borrowed"—a lacy handkerchief belonging to her sister Lizanne, Mrs. Donald C. Levine.

Rainier was in a uniform of dark blue, medals and decorations gleaming on his chest, and carried a plumed military hat in his left hand.

Bishop Barthe told Grace as he performed the ceremony: "One finds in you the features used in the Holy Scriptures to describe the ideal wife." Grace's parish priest, the Rev. John Cartin, took a prominent part in the service. Speaking in English, he told the newlyweds:

"You have taken one another, for better or for worse—till death do you part."

When the pastor of St. Bridget's church in Philadelphia began speaking, Grace leaned forward slightly in her chair.

"You must make sacrifices," he said, "and you must be generous."

There was hardly a sound in the cathedral as he went on:

"May the unselfish spirit of self-sacrifice guide you ever afterward. The rest is in the hands of God.

"And—may God keep you always well and happy."

When it was over, the well-to-do American girl of Irish extraction, daughter of a millionaire contractor and one-time bricklayer, was the fully certified wife of the scion of the royal family of Grimaldi, which goes back more than 600 years and came originally from Genoa.

3 Convicted Of Attacking Singer

Jailed For 180 Days For Hitting Nat Cole

BIRHIMGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Judge Ralph E. Parker Wednesday convicted three Citizens Council members of attacking Negro singer Nat (King) Cole and ordered them jailed for maximum terms of 180 days

Parker sentenced a fourth man, Jesse W. Mabry, 43, of Birmingham, and an associated editor of a Citizens Council publication to 180 days for conspiracy to commit a breach of the peace and disorderly conduct.

Parker commended the conduct of Cole "at the scene of the difficulty and since then."

He pointed out that Cole is a Montgomery, Ala., native and added that the entertainer "conducted himself in a way to earn respect of his white friends."

Cole was shaken up but not badly hurt April 10 when several white men rushed onto the stage and attacked him.

Mike Fox, 36, E. L. Vinson, 25, and Orliss Wade Clevenger, 18, all of Anniston, were sentenced to 180 days and fined $100 and costs on charges of conspiracy to commit assault and battery and related charges.

Clevenger was also fined $25 and costs for carrying a concealed weapon, but found innocent of disorderly conduct.

Mabry also was fined $10 and costs for failure to obey the lawful command of an officer.

Parker gave defense attorneys time to prepare an appeal to Circuit Court and the four men remained free on bond.

Two other men are charged with assault with intent to murder in the case. The charge is punishable by 2 to 20 years in prison. Scheduled for a preliminary hearing on those charges April 20 are W. R. Vinson, 23, and Kenneth Adams, 35, both of Anniston.

NEW YORK (AP)—Are you getting the most out of your television viewing

If not, perhaps you have only yourself to blame. Perhaps your posture is at fault.

In television watching proper posture is as important as it is in the more competitive forms of sport — such as golf, tennis or courtship.

What is the right posture? There is no such thing as a single right posture. It depends on the program you are watching.

The trouble with most televiewers is that they stick to one posture. Typically, they sit slumped down in an easy chair that gradually cuts off the circulation in the lower part of the body.

What happens? When the fellow rises after a four-hour siege of staring at the one-eyed monster in his living room, his mind and glazed eyeballs are worn out and ready for bed.

But what about his legs and feet They have been sound asleep for nearly four hours and are now wide awake. So what happens then? The upper part of this confused TV fan's body sleeps soundly all night, the bottom part of his body twists and turns restlessly.

By dawn he wakes up mentally refreshed, but his busy feet are now yawning and ready for sleep.

No wonder such a fellow complains, "I always feel half-tired." He is half-tired, literally. His bad TV posture has gotten his body out of physical synchronization.

The way for him to get back into condition is to vary his posture with each program. Then, after a long evening of studying the television scren, all parts of his body will be equally exercised and ready for bed.

Since individuals vary, each person should work out a series of postures that seem best suited to his own needs. But here are a few suggestions I have worked out that have proved beneficial in my own case:

TV baseball games — Don't merely just stretch out with one leg thrown over the arm of your easy chair. Get mad. Hoot the umpire, just as you would if you were actually at the game. Don't forget to stand up for that seventh inning stretch.

Political speeches — Lie full length on sofa with your head turned away from the TV set. Put fingers in both ears. Hold this position, eyes firmly closed, until spech is over.

Wrestling matches—Lie on floor with elbows on a pillow. Go through the motions of the two wrestlers. Live their epic struggles yourself. Bite pillow firmly at intervals. This will help build a firm jawline.

Commercials — Rise quickly, race to refrigerator (keeping head up, chin out). Get out can of beer, open it, sprint back to TV set. Relax, drink beer slowly.

Tense psychological dramas—Sit tensely on edge of straight-backed chair, toes clammily gripping inside of shoes. Try hard to make hair crawl on back of neck.

Musical plays—Hum the tunes yourself. Keep time to the music by tapping with feet and fingers.

Love soap operas—Go cuddle in wife's lap with your arms held tightly around her neck. When she cries, you cry. Don't wipe away her tears. Let her wipe away yours.

"Rin-Tin-Tin" and "Lassie"—Get down on hands and knees. When villain appears on screen, growl at him menacingly or crawl headfirst under sofa, depending on your bravery.

Anyone who will try these different postures while enjoying TV may feel a bit of a fool at times. But who's watching anyway, except the wife and kids, and who cares what they think

At the end of a week that "half tired feeling" will be all gone, and you'll feel as fit as a tiger, strong enough even (maybe) to stay up and watch the late-late show.

WEDDING AHEAD — A ceremony and wedding bells are at the end of the bus ride for Peggy Ann Garner. The former child star is touring with the play, "Bus Stop." She'll wed Albert Salmi when the tour concludes. He's her onstage hero, as well.

Grace Kelly's Wedding No Dream To Namesake

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Movie star Grace Kelly's wedding day Wednesday was no dream come true for Dayton's Grace Kelly.

It was a nightmare.

"Ever since the other Grace got engaged to Prince Rainier, people have been tormenting me," said the Dayton Kelly. "I can't even turn around in peace now."

For instance, she said:

She went into a store to pay a bill and the clerk questioned her signature on a check.

Last payday, fellow workers at National Cash Register Co. here asked her if she wanted her paycheck now that she was becoming royalty.

And the only "wedding present" she received Wednesday was her income tax refund from Uncle Sam.

Seeks To Get On Ballot After Party Switch

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Counsel for a Trumbull County man argued in the Ohio Supreme Court today that he should be allowed to run for Congress despite a party switching barrier.

The court took under study the request of Hugo F. Bouse Jr. for an order to place his name on May 8 primary election ballots as a Democratic candidate in the 11th District of Northeastern Ohio.

The Trumbull County election board turned down Bouse's petitions under a new law requiring a candidate to be a party member for four consecutive years.

Bouse lives in Vienna near Warren. He said he voted Republican in 1952 but later registered as a Democrat. The county board threw out his congressional petitions in 1954 because the law then required party membership in a preceding election. The Legislature last year changed the law to require four years of party membership.

Samuel Petkovich, counsel for Bouse, asserted the new law was "made for political bosses . . . it is strictly a political law." He said nearness of the election should not prevent Bouse from getting on the ballot.

Hugh A. Sherer, chief counsel for Ohio Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill, and Trumbull County prosecutor C. H. Anderson, argued for dismissal of Bouse's action. Commenting on the new law, Anderson said:

"This is a legislative enactment that they had a right to make. This court would go beyond its powers if it went into it.

"The Legislature can set rules for persons offering themselves (as candidates). I don't think he (Bouse) should be allowed to get over the fence.

Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt inquired:

"If a Republican wants to become a Democrat there should be a probationary period?"

"Well, yes, both ways," Anderson replied amid smiles all around.

New Village Employe Wage Scale Gets Council Reading

COLUMBIANA — Village Council gave first reading Tuesday evening to an ordinance setting up a new salary and wage scale for Columbiana village employes. The ordinance, which will add $6,500 to $6,800 to the village payroll, will come up for second reading at the next meeting, Tuesday evening, May 1, when anyone will have an opportunity to voice his disapproval.

Village salaries and wages amounted to $28,675.34 in 1944. By 1950, they had risen to $56,378.58 and by 1953 to $76,804.44. The last raise was voted less than a year ago, in June, last year. It was pointed out that the raise set up Tuesday evening will probably result in a curtailment of the annual street maintenance program and other services that may require some kind of a special levy if they are to be continued.

MAYOR E. L. CALVIN was asked to submit a proposed pay scale which was adopted with a few minor changes. Present and new rates of pay are:

Monthly rates: Superintendent electric department, $370-$395; superintendent water works, $370-$395; clerk of board of affairs, $255-$280; chief of police, $365-$395; policemen Nos. 1 and 2, $325-$350 each; street commissioner, $365, to receive an adjustment at the end of the year, due to a legal complication; park superintendent, $300-$325; cemetery sexton, $300-$325; clerk of park board, $100-$150; clerk of cemetery board, $150-$200;.

Hourly rates: Chief electrician, $1.85-$1.95; lineman, for time employed, $1.65-$1.75; electrician apprentice, $1.40-$1.60; skilled labor, water department, $1.60-$1.70; semi - skilled, $1.40-$1.50; disposal plant attendant, $1.30-$1.40; equipment operator, new category in street department, $1.70; truck driver, $1.55-$1.65; skilled labor, $1.40-$1.50.

The fire ruins on S. Main St., which are becoming infested with rats, were discussed, and unless plans materialize soon, council may, at its next meeting order the site cleaned up. W. E. McCaughtry was allowed an extension of time for razing his fire-damaged plumbing store building. Joseph Grantonic of Mingo Junction, deputy state fire marshal, will make another visit to Columbiana within a few days, Fire Chief Donald Hisey reported.

Mayor Calvin was authorized to appoint an advisory committee consisting of a building contractor, licensed plumber, licensed electrician, and other technicians to work with Solicitor Jack Kuhlman and Chairman Walter Miller of the council building committee toward drafting a building code adapted to local conditions.

Harold Duvall, representing the Nazarene Church, reported that the church would give its share of ground for the opening of a new street to extend east from N. Elm St. to the Y. & S. Railway, the street to have a width of 40 feet. Chairman Clifford Orr of the street committee said, however, that Engineer Seth Phillips of Lisbon advised a 50-foot width, and Duvall said he would need authorization from the church for any change in the set-up.

The engineer will be here now for a while to establish a grade on Quincy Ave. in the east part of town and take care of some other details, and the Y. & S. Railway will send its engineer to help solve some drainage problems along its line.

Solicitor Kuhlman read a letter from Gov. Frank J. Lausche to the effect that he would take up with State Highway Director S. O. Linzell the matter of the traffic light at Route 164 and the Route 14 by-pass.

Council recommended that Columbiana go on Daylight Saving Time, Sunday, April 29, until Sunday, Sept. 30.

Thursday, May 3, was set for the annual spring clean-up.

Fire Chief Donald Hisey was authorized to buy coats, boots and helmets needed by the fire department.

Chief of Police William McGuckin recommended purchase of a new cruiser. The present one had been in use nearly a year. The clerk was authorized to advertise for bids for a new truck for the street department.

Re-investment of $1,500 of park funds was authorized.

RECORDS WILL have to be kept by heads of departments for sick leave pay under state law.

Engineering work has been in progress in preparation for Phil. Hammersmith's FHA housing development at the northwestern edge of town, it was reported to council. Solicitor Kuhlman is to confer with Hammersmith's attorney, John Bauknecht Jr., of East Palestine, on some legal aspects of the situation.

Firestone Park board postponed its regular meeting from Tuesday evening to next Tuesday evening, April 24.

Guests from all over the 13th Ohio district of the Order of the Eastern Star were present for the inspection Tuesday evening of Columbiana Chapter by District Deputy Grand Matron Lillian Riegel of Salem. Eighty-five were served at the dinner in the Methodist Church preceding the inspection, at which 152 were present.

Worthy Matron Maurine Brown and Worthy Patron Clifford Shell, of Columbiana Chapter, presided. All the chapters in the district were represented, including two grand representatives, Adelaide Weikart, Washingtonville, for Pennsylvania, and Betty Harrington of North Canton for New Brunswick. Prominent Masons in attendance were Harry Marshall, 33rd degree, Steubenville; Robert Longsworth, district deputy grand master, Augusta; Paul Chapple, Alliance and A. A. Brown, master of Allen Lodge, Columbiana.

Fourteen worthy matrons and five worthy patrons were present.

Entertainment included two vocal duets b yMrs. Wilder Foertch and Mrs. Russell Lamoncha, accompanied by Mrs. Don Gromley.

Mrs. Roxie Moser was chairman of the decorating committee, and Mrs. Ruth Willis of the lunch committee.

Columbiana and Mahoning County berry growers will meet in the home economics room of Columbiana High School building at 8 p.m. tomorrow, when Ted Leed, marketing specialist from Ohio State University, will be the speaker. Reports will be received from committees that have been working on marketing problems.

Fairfield High School senior class will present the annual class play in the school gym at 8 p.m. tomorrow. The play, "Cracked Nutts" requires a cast of 13.

Costly Blast Damages New Ammonia Plant

MARCUS HOOK, Pa. (AP)—An explosion in the Sun Oil Co.'s new ammonia plant early today caused damage estimated at "several million dollars" and minor injures to seven employes.

Calvin C. Naylor, acting plant manager, who made the damage estimate, said the cause of the blast was undetermined.

A fire that followed was being allowed to burn itself out, Naylor said, since there was no danger of its spreading to other buildings.

The blast was the second this year in the new plant, built at a cost of about 10 million dollars.

Berra Leads Way As Yankees Rip Washington Again, 9-4

Catcher Has Seven RBIs

Giants Rally To Beat Pittsburgh Pirates

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Yogi Berra's running this "most valuable player" thing into the ground.

With three American League MVP plaques already up on the game-room wall in his Woodcliff Lake, N.J., home the 31-year-old New York Yankee catcher is off to his best start yet in a shot at an unprecedented fourth award.

The Yanks have scored 19 runs in walloping the Senators twice so far in Washington and Yogi, always a dangerous hitter with a man on base, has driven in seven of them. He just plain gave the Senators a fit—reaching base safely in his first nine trips to the plate in the two games with five hits and four walks.

It wasn't until his 10th trip that Washington—showing even worse pitching than was expected—finally got him out, on a pop foul. That was in the eighth inning of Wednesday night's game and by then the damage had been done as the Yankees scored four times in the first off ex-teammate Bob Weisler, and went on to win 9-4.

The 2- 0 record enabled the Yankees to keep pace with Boston's Red Sox, who rallied to beat Baltimore 8-4 Wednesday for their second straight.

Chicago and Cleveland were idle. Cold weather postponed Kansas City at Detroit.

The National League had only one game scheduled, and the New York Giants scored twice in the ninth to take another one-run decision from Pittsburgh 5-4.

Billy Martin took up where Berra left off for the Yanks, driving in four runs as New York scored six runs in the first three innings off Wiesler and then added three more in the fourth off rookie Hal Griggs. That was enough to shrug off a three-run Washington rally that chased starter Johnny Kucks in the eighth. Jim Konstanty finished.

Pete Runnels' home run and a triple by rookie Dick Tettelbach provided the only bumps for Kucks over the first seven frames.

Bob Porterfield, late of the Senators, gave up only five hits for two-run homers by Gus Triandos and rookie Tito Francona, and Boston had to rally for six runs in the fifth to get home safe. The big inning was manufactured on four hits, four walks and a sacrifice fly off starter - loser Ray Moore.

Jimmy Piersall's accidental hit scored two runs to keep the rally alive. Ducking from a 3-2 pitch, his bat got in the way of the ball and popped it into right field for a single.

Ted Williams singled and walked twice, putting his batting average at .800.

Willie Mays provided the clinch hit for the Giants, lining a two-out single to score the winning run in the ninth after Alvin Dark's sacrifice fly had tied the score. Vern Law had retired 10 in a row in a fine relief bit until the ninth.

Frank Thomas homered twice for the Bucs, who chased starter Ruben Gomez with three runs in the fourth.

The second one-run defeat left two Pirates — Roberto Clemente and Dale Long—with $25 fines for what freshman manager Bobby Bragan termed "careless plays."

Ohio Has Only 1 Minor League Team Left; Once Had Many

By FRITZ HOWEL L

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio, once a hot-bed of minor league baseball, has just about reached the end of an era.

Since 1901, when the National Assn. of Professional Baseball Leagues was organized, the Buckeye realm has had 33 cities and towns in 13 loops.

Today only Columbus, in the triple - A International League, keeps the state hanging on the minor league brink by its fingernails. Not one club in the "bushes"—Class D, C, B, A or AA—is operating in the state.

Baseball, in the organized loops, has flourished and faded all over the state, from corner to corner, in the last half-century. At times as many as four or five different leagues were operating in Ohio, but all have passed on.

On a country-wide basis, the high of 59 leagues and 444 clubs reached in 1949 has dwindled to 27 circuits and 209 teams as of today—but all the Ohio parks have disappeared.

Just what happened, no one seems to be able to pin down. Some say the minors can't compete with Cleveland and Cincinnati and their major league radio and telecasts. Some say the towns just lost interest, and that the dwindling gate receipts no longer could bear the operational burden.

Through Ohio's minor league mill, and on to stardom in the majors paraded such greats as Cy Young, Honus Wagner, Bill McKechnie, Hank Gowdy, Burt Shotton, Allie Reynolds, Billy Southworth, Johnny Vander Merr, Dutch Leonard, Eddie Stanky, Hank Sauer, Tommy Henrich, Mike Ryba, Jim Hegan, Joe Collins, Bill Doak, Johnny Rigney, Ernie Bonham, Babe Phelps, Billy Herman, Roger Bresnahan, Paul Dean, and hundreds of others.

The oldtime fans can look back down the last half-century and recall when the following leagues boasted these Ohio teams:

American Association — Toledo and Columbus.

Western Association — Marion, Dayton, Toledo and Columbus.

Central League—Dayton, Lima, Marion, Springfield, Youngstown, Zanesville, Akron and Canton.

Mid-Atlantic — Dayton, Portsmouth, Springfield, Youngstown, Akron, Canton and Zanesville.

Ohio State—Dayton, Lima, Marion, Newark, Portsmouth, Springfield, Zanesville, Middletown, Findlay, Fostoria, Fremont, Mansfield, Tiffin, Sandusky, Coshocton, New Philadelphia, Chillicothe, Ironton, Hamilton, Lancaster and Piqua.

Ohio—Indiana — Lima, Marion, Newark, Portsmouth, Springfield and Zanesville.

Ohio—Pennsylvania — Youngstown, Akron, Canton, Mansfield, Steubenville, Alliance, Salem and East Liverpool.

Interstate — Youngstown, Zanesville, Akron, Canton and Steubenville.

New International—Akron.

Pennsylvania State—Warren.

Mountain States — Middleport-Pomeroy.

Southern Michigan—Toledo.

Mount Union Spring Sports Are Underway

ALLIANCE — Golf, tennis and track squads representing Mount Union College in the 1956 spring sports campaign opened their schedules this week while the baseball squad continues its slate after officially opening last week.

The linksmen of Coach George Hunter travelled to play a match with Fenn College on Wednesday and will entertain Case Tech on the Alliance Country Club course on Friday. Fenn also provided the competition for Coach Earl Gascoigne's netters in an away match on Wednesday, while Oberlin is the tennis foe on Saturday in another away contest.

Coach Nelson M. "Bully" Jones sends his track team into action for the only time this week on Saturday when the Raiders meet Fenn College and Western Reserve University in a triangular meet in Cleveland.

Winners of their first two games, the baseball squad meets stiff opposition against Western Reserve University on Saturday.

Chudy Popoff, a senior from Canton and three-year letterman, will captain the tennis squad which also has Walt Stratton of Salem and Bill Eoff of Alliance, both one-year lettermen, back for duty.

Former Chief Of National League Dies

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—John A. Heydler, 86, former president of the National League, who was regarded as one of the strongest it has ever known, died Wednesday in his suite at a suburban residential hotel.

Heydler's health and eyesight had been failing the past several years, leaving him a virtual invalid. He leaves a widow, Nancy, who was at his bedside.

Funeral services will be held here at 2 p.m. Friday. Interment will follow in Cypress View Cemetery.

Ford Frick, commissioner of baseball, and Warren Giles, present National League president, said they were deeply shocked by the death of Heydler.

They and President Will Harridge of the American League and George Trautman, president of the National Assn. of Professional Baseball Leagues, termed the passing of Heydler "a great loss to baseball."

Heydler was active in professional baseball for 50 years and was president of the National League from 1918 until he retired in 1934. He also served as the league's secretary and treasurer for three years—the only man to hold all three offices.

The league named him honorary board chairman for life, when he retired because of failing health, and decreed that the office should expire with him.

Heydler was a power in cleaning up the "Black Sox" scandal of 1919, when gamblers' bribes to World Series players placed the sport in peril of losing public confidence.

He was largely responsible for the appointment of Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis as the first commissioner of professional baseball. The selection of a commissioner resulted from the "Black Sox" scandal.

Globetrotters Carry 11-9 Edge Into Final Game

INDIANAPOLIS — An injury-ridden Harlem Globetrotters carry a lead of 11 games to nine into their final exhibition basketball contest with the College All-Stars here tonight.

Six-foot-seven Tommy Heinsohn of Holy Cross, All-Star center, poured in 27 points Wednesday night as the collegians won 70-60 at the arena in Cleveland before a crowd of 10,021.

Bob (Showboat) Hall, the Trotters' pivot man, reportedly was ill in Chicago and did not play Wednesday night, and Leon Hillard, the Trotters' dribbling star, was crippled by a knee injury and played only briefly in the second half.

Dodgers To Play Phils In Jersey City Today

JERSEY CITY (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers hauled their floating franchise across the Hudson River into Roosevelt Stadium today for their second National League "opener" against the Philadelphia Phillies.

It was the first major league game on New Jersey soil in the modern era, and the first of seven Jersey City dates scheduled by president Walter O'Malley in a successful effort to call attention to the cramped and out-dated confines of Brooklyn's Ebbets Field.

A bill presently is being considered by New York Gov. Harriman which provides for an authority to construct an ultra-modern sports arena for Brooklyn and the Dodgers.

White Sox Still Want To Trade With Indians

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox are still interested in a deal with the Cleveland Indians but both clubs denied a report that outfielder Jim Rivera and the Tribe's veteran pitcher, Early Wynn, would be exchanged.

"We have talked trades, on and off, with Cleveland," said Sox Vice President Chuck Comiskey. "But we never have offered Rivera for Wynn and Hank Greenberg (Indians general manager) never offered Wynn for Rivera."

Cleveland to Get Aid For PanAm Games

CLEVELAND (AP)—A presidential aide gave a promise of help Tuesday to Cleveland in its role as host to the 1959 Pan-American games.

Howard Pyle, presidential administrative assistant, told Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze in Washington that the White House would "do everything in the world to push along" the games.

Pyle met with Celebrezze and other Ohioans, including State Auditor James A. Rhodes, executive co-ordinator of the sports event.

The games committee is seeking five million dollars in federal funds for a stadium, shooting range, bicycle race oval and other sports facilities.

Sen. Bender (R-Ohio) and Rep. Vanik (D-Ohio) said they would initiate appropriate legislation in Congress.

Mexico's and Argentina's governments footed the whole bill when those countries put on the games, delegation members said.

"We don't expect that," Bender commented. "But we do expect some financial help and certainly the fullest co-operation from the government.

Herb Score To Oppose Chicago White Sox

CHICAGO (AP)—Herb Score, who couldn't win a ball game against the Chicago White Sox last season, was scheduled to pitch today for the Cleveland Indians.

Score, sensational sophomore lefthander, will be making his first start of the season. Jack Harshman was set for the Sox. Score's second start probably will be against the same squad that jinxed as a rookie. He may pitch against them next Monday in the first night game in Cleveland.

The 22-year-old hurler built a 16-10 record, but against the Chicagoans he went down to defeat three times. Harshman whipped the Indians five times in seven decisions.

Manager Al Lopez expects Herb to be efective now against the White Sox because they have so much left-handed power.

Either Mike Garcia or Early Wynn will pitch Friday when the Tribe opens its home season in Cleveland.

"I don't want to make the decision now because I may have to use one of them in relief against the White Sox," Lopez said.

Both squads had off days Wednesday, but Lopez still was talking about Bob Lemon's losing 2-1 performance the day before.

"Bob deserved to win," Lopez opined. "He had great stuff and was getting it over. I think we can safely say that he'll win his usual quota this year."

Commission Doesn't Believe Trainer's Story

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—The Maryland Racing Commission told a trainer Wednesday it didn't believe his story that one of his horses had been deliberately lamed by a prowler.

Chairman D. Eldred Rinehart, in effect, reprimanded trainer Claude Feltner. The session with Feltner apparently ended the commission's investigation of the laming of One Throw.

Feltner reported April 6 that One Throw, owned by Henry H. Hecht of Baltimore, had been injured intentionally during the night while stabled at Laurel Race Track. He scratched the horse from a race that afternoon at nearby Bowie.

Bobby Boyd Wins Decision Over Mims

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—After taking a soundly-booed 10-round split decision over Holly Mims, Bobby Boyd now is aiming for Charley Humez as another stepping stone to a chance at the middleweight crown.

The lanky, long-armed Boyd, 22, and the stubby Mims, 26, hamstrung each other in an unimpressive, clinching-and-holding nationally televised bout Wednesday night at Chicago Stadium.

Boyd, regarded the hottest title prospect out of Chicago in five years and ranked No. 2 among contenders, managed to gain his 10th straight victory.

He knocked his Washington, D.C. opponent to the canvas with a short right in the sixth round. Mims bounced up at the count of two and took a mandatory eight.

It was the first solid blow Boyd could land. He staggered Mims with another right to the head in the eighth and got through another solid right in the ninth.

Boyd missed repeated leads earlier and took several good rights fired by Mims from inside. But although Mims beat Boyd to the punch often in the first five rounds he failed to punch often enough to hold his early lead later on.

Referee Bernard Weissman was as busy as the fighters in trying to break them apart. Several times he had to warn them to quit holding and wrestling.

The turnout of 2,496 fans, who contributed to a net gate of $3,346, booed lustily at the spread of points on the officials' scores. Mim's manager, Nick Trotta, stormed about the ring at the decision.

Under the Illinois maximum 10-points-per-round system, Judge John Bray scored in favor of Mims 93-90. Judge Spike McAdams gave it to Boyd 98-90 and Weissman was for Boyd 97-92. Thee Associated Press card had Boyd ahead 97-95.

Boyd, a 9-5 betting choice, outweighed Mims 161 pounds to 156½ The victory gave Boyd a record of 39-6-2. Mims, in action for only the second time in seven months, now has 40-14-5.

Promoter To Testify On Charges That He Cheated Marciano

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Pudgy boxing promoter Jimmy Murray was called back today before the California boxing investigation where he was accused of short changing Rocky Marciano and Don Cockell in their heavyweight championship fight and paying $10,000 "on the side" to Marciano's manager.

James Cox, counsel for the investigators, introduced a series of Murray's work sheets and a check stub Wednesday in an effort to show the promoter paid $10,000 "under the table" to Al Weill, manager of the champion.

Murray insisted he got the money himself and lost it betting on the horses a few days after the title fight in San Francisco May 16, 1955.

Cox, former Stanford football tackle, said Murray subtracted the $10,000 from the net gate receipts before figuring the fighters' purses. State boxing inspectors placed the net receipts at $169,728. Murray's records indicated the boxers were paid on the basis of a $159,306 net.

This, Cox said, made Marciano's 40 per cent $63,720, "a shortage of $4,170."

Cockell's 20 per cent was $31,860 the attorney said, $2,084 less than it should have been.

Cox introduced Murray work sheets showng "the same $10,000 item" listed on various dates as "transportation," A. W. transportation," "Al Weill" and "publicity expenses."

Murray said he couldn't understand why his bookkeeper would make such notations.

Bragan Fines Pirates For Careless Plays

NEW YORK (AP)—If it takes a big stick to lift the Pittsburgh Pirates out of the National League cellar then Bobby Bragan means to wield it as often a necessary.

The 1956 baseball season is only three days old but already the 37-year old freshman manager has fined two of his players for careless play and served notice that failure to observe a 1 a.m. curfew, without permission, will cost violators from $500 to $1,000.

"We are the type of a club that can't afford to make mistakes, said the ex-major league shortstop and catcher after fining outfielder Roberto Clemente and first baseman Dale Long $25 each for what he called careless plays in Wednesday's 5-4 loss to the New York Giants.

Bragan said Clemente was fined for missing a squeeze bunt sign in the eighth inning with Johnny O'Brien on third with only one out. Long was penalized for cutting off a throw to home plate in the ninth, when Gil Coan scored the tying run on a sacrifice fly.

Bobby, an off-season Sunday School teacher who didn't hesitate to bring his players up short in three years at the helm of the Hollywood Stars of the Pacific Coast League, said "our team is geared to good pitching and a tight defense."

Not since the days of Manager Bill Meyer have any of the Pirates been chastized by fines. Meyer once fined Bill Werle, a pitcher $500, and made Bob Chesnes, also a pitcher, dig up $300. But Fred Haney, whom Bragan succeeded, never wielded the big stick in any such manner.

Rt. 9 Project Set For Completion Sept. 30

The improvement of a 7.4-mile section of Rt. 9 between Hanoverton and the Winona Rd., south of Salem, is scheduled for completion by Sept. 30, according to the Sutton & Stewart Co. of Bridgeport which has begun work on the $359,340 project.

Plans call for the road, now a 16-foot concrete thoroughfare, to be widened to 20 feet and then resurfaced with asphaltic concrete. Grading, the removal of brush and trees and relocation of utility poles will provide for the establishment of eight-foot berms on both sides of the road.

The section of Rt. 9 between the Salem city limits and the Winona Rd. was resurfaced with asphaltic concrete last summer at a cost of $58,896.

State Highway Department officials said the highway is being improved because of its heavy use by trucks and cars enroute from Rt. 30 at Hanoverton through Salem to the Ohio Turnpike interchange at North Jackson. Traffic on Rt. 9 between Salem and Hanoverton has more than doubled since the turnpike was opened last fall.

Teacher Defends Paddling Pupils

Says He Had To Act To Maintain Order

McCONNELSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Slim, bespectacled Jack W. Eberle told a school board hearing at nearby Deavertown Wednesday he had to paddle his students—including five girls—in order to keep order in his classroom.

The 25-year-old Eberle is fighting his ouster on charges of paddling the 15-year-old girl students, teaching Bible in class and insubordination. The hearing opened Wednesday.

Eberle was suspended by the Deavertown school board last Nov. 17 and fired March 14. He requested the hearing to seek reinstatement.

The teacher told the board he had not wanted to paddle the girls but was forced to to maintain order in the classroom. His class was getting to be like a "town meeting," he said.

Eberle, while maintaining that he only "tapped" four of the girls, admitted that he "whammed" the fifth, Judy Smith, five times.

Eberle said Judy one day refused to obey him and also chewed gum in class.

Eberle said he had her lean across his desk, then:

"I whammed her three times and then asked if that was enough. She said no, so I gave her two more."

Eberle, who is also pastor of the Life Begins Bible Church here, testified that he answered students' questions about religion and read them passages from the Bible only during the noon recess.

Eberle said W. O. Porter, county superintendent of schools, had told him that it would be all right to use such time for religious discussions.

VA TO CHARGE RENT

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Veterans Administration is going to try to collect rents for homes it owns under a court order but whose former owners still live in them.

The government has deposited $241,000 in court to pay for a row of houses on a site where it proposes to build a VA hospital. The property owners have complained the prices offered were too low.

A VA officials said yesterday, "the government has authority to charge rents when it take title."

Many Stolen Blank Licenses Recovered

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Capt. F. C. Moon, investigating chief of the state highway patrol, has confirmed that "a goodly portion" of 525 blank drivers' licenses stolen from a warehouse of the bureau of motor vehicles last January has been recovered.

Moon said Wednesday three parolees have been returned to the Ohio State Penitentiary as a result of the investigation of the theft. Moon said trustees from the prison were employed in the warehouse. All licenses recovered were found in the possession of the three returned parolees, he said.

Moon identified them as: Kenneth C. Schaar, 44, Cleveland; James Birt, 29, Celina; and Joseph Halko, 32, Elyria. Schaar and Birt were serving 1-20 year terms for forgery and Halko a 1-20 year sentence for auto theft.

Rules Employes Can Restore 'Annuity Rights'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) —Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill has ruled that members of an Ohio public employes retirement system can restore their "annuity rights" and contributing "service credit" forfeited through withdrawal of contributions.

In an opinion Wednesday to Fred L. Schneider, executive secretary of the public employes retirement system, O'Neill said members seeking to restore their rights after last June 29 must redeposit in the employes saving fund the amount withdrawn with interest.

In an opinion to C. Ervin Nofer, acting state registrar of motor vehicles, O'Neill ruled that power cranes are exempt under the state motor vehicle licensing law.

Lausche Doesn't Agree To More Drivers Tests

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Frank J. Lausche doesn't agree Ohio needs to give driving tests to 2½ million drivers who never have taken an examination.

Highway Safety Director U. C. Felty had made tentative plans for such tests and had estimated they might eliminate about one-half million drivers.

Lausche told newsmen Wednesday:

"The driver should not be subjected to the inconvenience of being examined. There are other means of reaching the physically incompetent persons . . ."

50 Prisoners Riot In Cook County Jail

CHICAGO (AP)—More than 50 prisoners demonstrated for 10 minutes in the Cook County jail Wednesday.

Guards brought the prisoners under control after the inmates had broken 26 windows and smashed furniture in a dayroom on the jail's ground floor.

Warden Jack Johnson said the outbreak apparently was staged in resentment over a shakedown inspection of jail cells. The prisoners demonstrated while waiting in the dayroom to be led back to their cells following the routine check.

Saxbe Says GOP Women Performing Big Job

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—"The hand that rocks the cradle may well turn out to be one of the strongest arms of the Republican party," a GOP candidate for the Republican attorney general nomination said today.

The comment came from William Saxbe of Mechanicsburg, former House speaker, in a campaign talk before the Republican Luncheon Club. He added:

"The Republican women's organizations in Ohio are doing a tremendous job of kindling and stimulating interest in politics. Through their efforts and the moral and spiritual influence they exert on political affairs thousands of voters have been attracted to the Republican ranks."

Explains Lisbon School Rehabilitation Plan

LISBON—Loren D. Early, superintendent of Lisbon schools, outlined the building and rehabilitation program which the proposed $414,000 bond issue will pay for if passed when he spoke to the Rotary Club here Tuesday evening.

Early said the bond issue must be passed by voters at the May 8 primaries before Lisbon schools are eligible for state aid.

The superintendent declared that if the issue is not approved "it will be necessary to start half-day sessions or discontinue some classes beginning in September, 1957."

Early said the bond issue would increase Lincoln Schools classrooms from 17 to 21. McKinley School would get two new rooms added to the north side of the building to boost its number to nine. Early said four or six additional rooms are needed at McKinley, but the playground area is already limited and the cafeteri and all-purpose room facilities are suitable for only nine or 10 rooms.

The Lincoln two-story additi o n would be made at the south end of the building with two rooms on each floor.

Early said the new additions would only be sufficient to house kindergarten through sixth grades. He said it will be necessary to move the seventh and eighth grades to the high school. The eighth grade will be moved in September and the seventh grade will be moved in September, 1957.

The rehabilitation projects deal primarily with the high school. Present facilities listed as inadequate by Early were: no library at present, poorly equipped science laboratory, inadequate indust r i a l arts shop, below standard home economics areas and music room, poor heating system, leaky roof, crowded typing class room and parts of the building badly in need of repainting.

Brothers Of Brush To Make Trip Plans

A general meeting of all Brothers of the Brush is scheduled for Saturday, April 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the Memorial Building, according to Bob Kaminsky, chairman of that phase of the sesquicentennial celebration.

The meeting is being called to discuss arrangements for a trip of the brothers to see a Cleveland Indians baseball game prior to sesqui week.

HIGHER BOND SEEN NEEDED

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The state auditor thinks the time may be ripe for increasing the bond of many public officials.

Auditor James A. Rhodes urged the Legislative Service Commission Wednesday to study the need for a change in laws covering bonds. He told the fact - finding farm of the General Assembly, "I believe the law might be changed to require a bond of a fixed amount not less than $5,000 . . ."

Many officials now are handling funds totaling several hundred times the amounts of their bonds, Rhodes said.

Cincinnati U. To Honor Its 'Coop' System

CINCINNATI (AP)—The University of Cincinnati pauses this week to add up its first 50 years of co-operative education and to consider the possibilities of the next half-century.

The "coop" system—n which students alternate between several weeks in the classroom and a like period working in private industry—began here in 1906.

The idea has since spread to more than 30 colleges and universities.

The UC coop plan owes its start to the late Dean Herman Schneider, colorful professor of civil engineering.

The university's weeklong celebration starting Thursday is partly a tribute to Schneider. But the campus visitor will see exhibits by present-day coop firms. Speakers are slated to assess the future of education and industry.

The university Thursday will confer 11 honorary degrees.

Speakers Thursday include Charles F. Kettering, inventor and General Motors' consultant; Raymond F. Loewy, industrial designer, and Frederick L. Hovde, president of Purdue University.

A group of 45 high school science students from Southwest Ohio will compete for a dozen four-year UC scholarships based on research projects completed by the students.

The university set aside it's new fieldhouse to hold exhibits set up for the week by more than 70 firms. The exhibits range from museum pieces of old technology to some guesses as to what future industry will produce.

STUDENTS HELD FOR ROBBERY

CINCINNATI (AP)—Judge Ralph B. Kohnen ordered three Xavier University students bound to the grand jury Tuesday under $1,000 bond each on charges of robbing a salesman, Dennis Carnes, 21.

Police said the three—Donald Turney, 21, Fort Wayne, Ind.; John J. McGinn Jr., 22, Chicago, and Donald Graves, 22, Cleveland—admitted slugging Carnes and taking his wallet containing $130 outside a saloon here last Saturday morning.

Cheese Adds To Potatoes

Everybody oooohs and aaaahs over baked stuffed potatoes. We've rarely seen it fail. High and puffy, tops gloriously browned, what looks better to eat? Or what tastes better with chops or a roast?

These potatoes are convenient for a company meal because they can be prepared ahead and heated in the oven shortly before serving.

We thought we had explored all the varieties of stuffed potatoes. Then a new recipe came under our critical eye. We wr curious, and so to the kitchen to find ou how it ate. We liked. So did our tasters. Here's the recipe.

America's good blue cheese gives these potatoes elisive flavor. If the man in your family likes blue cheese in salad dressing, h's sure to approve this formula, too.

Blue Cheese Stuffed Potatoes

Ingredients: 6 medium-sized baked potatoes (about 2 pounds), ¼ cup milk, 2 tablespoons butter, 4 ounces (about ¾ cup crumbled; blue cheese, salt, pepper, paprika

Method: Bake potatoes in hot (400 degrees) oven 1 hour or until soft when pierced through center with a fork. Cut a thin lengthwise slice from the top of each potato; scoop out pulp and put through ricer or mash. Add milk and butter and beat well; beat in ½ cup of crumbled blue cheese and beat again. Add salt and pepper to taste. Spoon filling back into potato shells and spread remaining ¼ cup blue cheese over tops; sprinkle with paprika. Bake in very hot (450 degrees) oven until tops are lightly browned and cheese melts — about 20 minutes. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

Note: Place stuffed potatoes on aluminum foil when they are to go back into the oven for last heating because cheese on top may dribble down sides a bit.

More Ways with Blue Cheese

Like stuffed eggs for a supper snack when friends are over in the evening? Add blue ches along with butter, prepared mustard and Worcestershire sauce to the mashed yolks; taste before adding salt. These eggs are delicious with cold ham, rye bread, celery, pickles, olives.

Want to try a new salad? Arrange half-moon slices of ripe avocado over mixed greens. Sprinkle with crumbled crisply-cooked bacon and crumbled blue cheese. Toss with French dressing before serving. Use olive oil, wine vinegar, prepared mustard, salt and freshly ground pepper for the dressing.

Mix up a batch of cream cheese and blue cheese — half and half. If you want it to be smooth, force it through a fine strainer. Store in a tightly covered jar in the refrigerator. Use as a stuffing fo celery, as a spread for crackers or rounds of cucumber, or as a topping for hamburgers.

Make up a batch of your absolutely flaky rich pastry. Cut small squares of it with a pastry wheel. Put a dab of blue cheese on each square and fold over. Seal edges together with the tines of a fork Bake in a hot oven. Wonderful with a tomato juice cocktail.

No dessert for supper? Serve juicy ripe fresh pears with blue cheese. Have the pears very cold, the cheese at room temperature.

Polish Chrusts Complimentary

"A delightful Polish custom is the break in the afternoon routine for pastry and tea," according to Mrs. Leo Kowalke, of Hammond, Ind. She learned to cook Polich dishes from her mother, who was born in Poland. Among her favorites are "chrusts."

These are a unique and difefrent fried pastry. The crust is made with rolled oats, which give a nut-like flavor and tenderness. The dough is rolled as thin as can be, cut in strips and then tied in a knot and fried in deep, hot fat until crisp and golden. A sprinkling of powdered sugar adds a touch of sweetness.

Polish Chrusts

Four egg yolks, 1 egg white, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup confectioners sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 tablespoon rum or sherry extract (optional), 1 cup sifted enriched flour, ½ cup rolled oats (quick or old-fashioned, uncooked).

Add salt to egg yolks and egg white; beat vigorously with rotary beater for 5 minutes. Add sugar, flaborings and flour, mixing well; blend in rolled oats.

Turn out on lightly floured board or canvas and knead dough until smooth and elastic (about 5 minutes). Cut dough in half, then roll each half to about ⅛ inch thickness. Cut in strips ¾" by 4". At one end of each, cut a slit one-inch long, pull the other end through it.

Fry in hot, deep fat (375 degrees F.) until golden brown. Drain. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar.

Note: If the rum or sherry extract is omitted, add 1 tablespoon water.

EMPLOYES HOLD REUNION

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—An old interurban car whistle that used to warn cows off the tracks will be "dinner bell" for some 65 employes of the long defunct Cleveland, Painesville and Eastern Railway when they hold their 28th reunion here May 9.

The C. P. & E. went out of business 30 years ago.

The interurban line's first car left Cleveland July 4, 1896, amid much fanfare and celebration. For 30 years it hauled passengers and freight between Cleveland and Ashtabula.

'Your Serene Highness' Is Just 'Ray' To Kellys

MONTE CARLO (AP) —Prince Ranier III of Monaco, has a score of titles and his citizens call him "Your Serene Highness" but the family of his bride Grace Kelly just calls him "Ray."

Grace's father, John B. Kelly Sr., was asked after the wedding just what the family called their much-titled son-in-law Kelly replied "We call him Ray."

Pregnant Women Need 6 Daily Meals

Three meals a day are not adequate to keep the hunger of most pregnant women satisfied, according to Dr. Benjamin Spock and Dr. Miriam Lowenberg, co-authors of the new book, "Feeding Your Baby and Child."

They add that five or six meals every day is the usual dietary pattern during pregnancy.

Start the day with a basic breakfast of fruit, cereal, milk, bread, and butter. Hot cereal has been found to be especially appealing to women bothered with morning nausea.

Luncheon and dinner should contain protein-rich foods, vegetables, salads and milk, with fruit for dessert.

The three "extras" between meals must not exceed th total caloric requirements, should contribute essential nutrients plus energy, give a feeling of satity, and be quick and easy to prepare.

Three servings of enriched, restored or whole grain cereals and breads and one quart of milk are a part of fairly standardized requirements for an adequate diet during pregnancy.

Rhubarb Corn Flake Crisp

Four cups corn flakes, ¼ cup melted butter or margarine, ½ cup granulated sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 3 cups sliced fresh rhubarb, 1 cup brown sugar, whipped cream.

Crush corn flakes slightly; stir in butter or margarine, granulated pack into layer on corn flake mixture evenly over bottom of greased square pan, 8 x 8 x 2-inches. Mix rhubarb and brown sugar; pack into layer on corn flake mixture. Sprinkle remaining corn flake mixture over top. Press down slightly. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until rhubarb is tender and flakes have browned, about 40 minutes. Serve hot or cold with whipped cream.

TWO DRIVERS FINED HERE

Lester G. Wilson, 24, of Beloit, arrested by the State Highway Patrol, was fined $15 and costs for driving left of center by Mayor Dean B. Cranmer, Tuesday.

Also fined was Max L. Buckley, 35, of 120 Washington St., $10 for crossing a yellow line.

ROBOT HURT ON DUTY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The new robot attendant at a municipal parking lot here suffered a broken arm—apparently in the line of duty Tuesday.

City Traffic Engineer James V. Musick theorized that a chiseler had attempted to follow a paying customer through the gate. The arm of the electronic gate is timed so that it would have come down on the "gate crasher" mid-hood.

Stuffed Fish Topped With Lemon Sauce

If you're tired of preparing fish the same old way and your family has lost interest in Friday meals, try serving fish steaks with tomato bread stuffing topped with lemon-mayonnaise sauce.

Use: 1½ pounds fish steaks, (halibut, salmon, etc.), 1 teaspoon salt, 1¼ teaspoons ground black pepper, 2 cups soft bread cubes or crumbs, 1 tablespoon onion flakes, 1 tablespoon parsley flakes, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted, 2-3 cup chopped fresh tomato or ½ cup canned tomatoes, 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning, 1½ tablespoons butter or margarine, 1-3 cup boiling water, Lemon-Mayonnaise Sauce.

Purchase 2 fish steaks the same size and shape which can be placed one on top of the other. Place one steak in an oiled baking dish. Mix ½ teaspoon of the salt and ¼ teaspoon of the black pepper and sprinkle over the fish slices. Combine the remaining salt and black pepper with the next 6 ingredients and spread over fish. Cover with the second fillet. Dot with remaining butter or margarine. Pour boiling water in pan around fish. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees; 20 to 25 minutes or until fish flakes when tested with a fork. If desired, garnish with lemon slices and paprika. Serve with Lemon-Mayonnaise Sauce. Makes 6 servings.

Sauce

Heat ½ cup mayonnaise, 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice and 1-16 teaspoon ground white pepper together in top of a double boiler, stirring constantly. Serve hot, over fish. Makes 6 servings.

Homemade Bread Wonderful

Homemade bread helps make a good Sunday breakfast even better. To achieve a delicious fruit-and-nut loaf for just such a meal, we used a package of bread mix and added raisins, walnuts and cinnamon. Confectioners' sugar frosting topped the loaf. If you like to toast it, leave off the topping.

As a fruit course for Sunday brunch we recommend sliced bananas and whole small strawberries floating in orange juice. Make the bananas look pretty by fluting them this way: draw the times of a fork lengthwise down each peeled banana before slicing it.

For the main course, what better than shirred eggs and plump golden-brown pork sausages? To prepare the eggs, we use individual heat-resistant glass pie plates (each about 6 inches across the top and about 1 inch deep). We butter each plate, carefully break two eggs into each (so that the yolks are intact; and dribble a tablespoon of heavy cream over the eggs. Next a generous sprinkling of freshly grated Parmesan cheese is added. The eggs go into a slow (325 degrees) oven until the whites are set and the yolks partly firm — about 20 minuts. Salt and freshly ground pepper for the eggs are passed at the table.

Some food shops carry freshly-grated Parmesan cheese. Or you may buy a wedge of the cheese and grate it at home; this is easy to do if you have a French-type rotary cheese grater. In either case, store the grated cheese in a tightly covered jar in the refrigerator; it keeps indefinitely this way. But be sure you do refrigerate it, after it is grated, or it will probably get moldy.

We like the method of cooking pork sausages that's been in use in recent years. Her it is. Put your sausages in a skillet with about ¼ cup of water. Cover the skillet and steam the sausages for about 5 minutes. Pour off any water in the pan and leave off the cover. Now cook slowly, rolling sausages over from time to time, until they are browned. Drain off the fat as it accumulates. Don't prick the sausages or the good juices will run out. If you use a fork for turning, do so with a very light hand so as not to puncture.

Here's the recipe for the fruit-and-nut yeast bread. We recommend it highly.

Raisin Walnut Loaf

Ingredients: 2 teaspoons cinnamon, ½ cup seedless raisins (rinsed in hot water and drained), ½ cup coarsely chopped walnut meats, 1 package (12 1-3 ounces) bread mix, 1-3 cup confectioners' sugar, water.

Method: Add cinnamon, raisins and walnuts to bread mix. Prepare and bake bread as directed on the package. Cool. Blend together the sugar and water to make a glaze of spreading consistency; add water drop by drop. Cover top of bread with frosting.

Last Word

A bowl of fresh fruit — apples, oranges, pears and grapes — plus nuts in the shell make a fine ending for Sunday brunch. And of course, you'll want lots of good strong hot coffee during breakfast and after.

Have you wondered what gives John Liber's Prize Brand Bacon that distinctive old country - smoked flavor?

It's the curing process — 21 days over apple and hickory smoke. It takes time to impart that tangy, distinctive flavor you remember from "down on the farm." No one has ever been able to duplicate that smokehouse flavor.

Try John Liber's Prize Brand Bacon in the slab or in slices in the one-pound cellophane wrapped package.

IDEAL FAMILY HOME
What could you offer that family of yours that would give them more happiness, pleasure and security than a home of their own?
This is an ideal location. The kitchen has been newly remodeled with Mullins sink, snack bar, plenty of cupboard space, inlaid linoleum and is very cheerful and attractive. The other three rooms downstairs are very nice, drapes and carpet to be included. Four very lovely bedrooms with plenty of closet space. Bathroom is tiled and has new Crane fixtures.
The third floor is finished and includes a 27-inch Homart window fan with automatic timer.
There is a new 45 gallon automatic hot water tank. Basement is large enough to have a recreation room. Lot is 217 feet deep, has room for small garden and there would be room left over for a nice lawn. The patio and the fireplace is most attractively placed under trees affording plenty of shade and an ideal place to spend many happy hours in the summer. Two car garage.
This is a home well worth having and we are serious when we say THE PRICE IS SO RIGHT. You will hardly believe you can buy this home when we tell you the sale price.
